Noteworthy Quotes

Charles Spurgeon(1834-1892): We cannot take a more efficient method for benefiting others than by being earnestly prayerful for ourselves that we may be preserved from sin. Our example will in itself be useful, and our godliness, by putting power into our testimony, will increase the value of every rebuke, exhortation, or encouragement we may utter. Our sin is or will be the church's sorrow, and the way to make all the upright rejoice is to be upright ourselves.

Mission of the Month

Friends of Israel/Jim Showers

Pray for the upcoming board meeting on February 11. The COVID epidemic with its restrictions on travel and in-person ministry as well as the decrease in donations are challenges FOI is currently facing and seeking to address. They are a world-wide ministry and are seeking to continue ministry through online and virtual meetings, but transitioning to these alternate forms of communication is challenging, not only for FOI, but also those who want to be involved throughout the world. The ministry also provides medical and relief aid in various parts of the world.

Slavic Gospel Association/Dr. Oleg and Svetlana Korotky

Pray for a Biblical counseling program that helps students understand the challenges faced by those struggling with addiction, depression and victimization and how to help them Biblically. Pray for the rehabilitation centers that are seeking to help these suffering people get back to a healthy lifestyle. In God's Providence, some have come from a literal and figurative trash heap to saving knowledge, confession and repentance and baptism and are now looking out to reach others with the only truth that can save.

Thanksgiving that despite COVID restrictions, various church groups have been able to meet both virtually and in-person to continue their worship of the true and living God.
